PROJECTS

Project Title:

AI-Powered Face Recognition Attendance System

Description:

Classroom attendance was manual, time-consuming, and error-prone, so the goal was to automate it using face recognition.

Designed a Python-based system with OpenCV, building modular components for image acquisition, face detection, and identity matching.

Implemented real-time face matching against a stored student dataset, handling challenges like lighting variation and partial visibility.

Significantly reduced manual intervention and improved attendance accuracy, delivering a working real-world ML/computer vision application.
